How's Your Liver?
Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.
NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

PIANOS.
GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLE'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish—finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving therein; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.
Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot at nd permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, drys out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tunning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous growlings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.
We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash
A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $297.50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50: a $1500 Piano for $475.50.
Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second-hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

STUDY OF MESMERISM.

SOME VERY CURIOUS EXPERIMENTS MADE AT THE CAPITAL.

Journalist Croffut's Exhibition of Skill in Hypnotism—Suggested Burglary Committed by a "Sensitive"—Not So Successful with Another Subject.

W. A. Croffut has recently taken up the study of mesmerism, or hypnotism, as the scientists prefer to call it. Mr. Croffut has developed considerable skill in this direction, and the other night gave an exhibition at his house before a noteworthy audience. Among others present were Postmaster General Vilas and his family, Senator Ingalls, Senator Platt, of Connecticut; Gen. A. W. Greely and his wife, Admiral and Mrs. Russell, Mr. Coleman, the commissioner of agriculture; Col. Nicolay, marshal of the United States supreme court; Gen. Bryant, assistant attorney general; Professor Thompson, of the geological survey, and a number of other scientific gentlemen and physicians. Before beginning his experiments Mr. Croffut explained that he had been very much interested in reading, in Paris letters, of the experiments conducted by Drs. Charcot and Luys in Europe.

VICARIOUS CRIMINALITY.

Mr. Croffut remarked that the experimentation with dangerous drugs and medicated compounds under scientific conditions would be postponed to another evening, but he would immediately make tests as to the vicarious commission of crime. After performing some minor experiments and getting his subjects into a good condition, Mr. Croffut attempted the feat of compelling a fellow being to commit a crime by the force of his own will, acting upon the will of that fellow being. One of the subjects, a young woman employed in the government printing office, was told to go into the audience and pick the ladies' pockets. She manifested great horror of the act and refused, but by an imperative command the mesmerizer induced her to comply, and without much display of ingenuity she got a phantom purse, not a real one, from Mrs. John C. Fremont. The experiment was not satisfactory as to the practical employment of an agent.

Another sensitive, a clerk in a department, was mesmerized, and Mr. Croffut explained to him that in a house of one of the neighbors, in an upper chamber, in a certain corner and a certain drawer in the dressing case was a pocketbook which contained $5,000. He described the situation of the house minutely, the way to go there, the arrangement of the dressing case and so on, repeating it over several times until the subject had the geography impressed upon his mind. Then handing him two keys he said:

"The larger key will open the front door of the house and the smaller key will open the drawer of the dressing case in which the pocketbook will be found."

He told the young man that if he would steal that pocketbook he would give him the money. There was a good deal of discussion between the mesmerist and his subject concerning the liability of discovery and arrest, but when assured that there was not the slightest possibility of anybody interfering with him, and that there were no dogs about the place, he consented to undertake the burglary. Four or five gentlemen in the room were asked to follow the subject on his trip. Due arrangements had previously been made with a neighbor to place the pocketbook in the situation described. The young man ran out into the street, turned the corner, and when he came to the house described by Mr. Croffut recognized it at once by the description. He then began to show the greatest degree of agitation, looking nervously behind all the tree boxes and around the corners, and finally jumped over the fence, saying to those who accompanied him as "pals"—of whose presence he seemed only half conscious—that he did so lest the gate should make a noise.

NERVOUS AND CAUTIOUS.

When he reached the porch his nervousness seemed to increase, as well as his caution; but he unlocked and opened the door quietly, crept into the hallway, looked round all the corners and into all the rooms, found his way up stairs into the apartment described, drew out the key, unlocked the drawer indicated and found the pocket book. He was starting away with it, when one of those who accompanied him called his attention to the fact that he had left the drawer open, and that he had better restore things as he found them. He replied that that was a good idea, and doing so, put the key in his pocket. He then crept around the room, looking into other places, and when asked why he did so, replied that he was looking for something else he could steal. One of the party suggested to him that it was a bad place to steal anything but money, for jewelry could be traced while money could not. This seemed to strike him as sensible, and he remarked that the pocket book was full of bills, and he had better be satisfied with what he had got. Then he crept down stairs with great caution, shut and locked the front door carefully after him, and reaching the street, started to run like a frightened deer. One of his attendants caught him by the arm and asked him where he was going. He said he was going home, but the attendant suggested he must return to Mr. Croffut's house and give him his share of the money. The mesmerized thief stopped a moment and said: "Yes, it would be mean not to give him his share; he put us on to the job; we will go back and deal square with him."

He returned to Mr. Croffut's house, handed that gentleman the pocket book and counting out $5,000 in imaginary money, divided it equally between the two.

This experiment seemed to demonstrate that, proper conditions existing, crime may be committed second hand through mesmeric influences.

With another subject Mr. Croffut was not so successful. He convinced a young man that his brother had been killed by an Indian, whom he was advised to murder in revenge, and was told that he could find him on the Capitol steps. The sensitive, though generally obedient under mesmeric influences, refused to believe such an absurd story, and after a long argument with Mr. Croffut, in which the subject showed as much shrewdness as the operator, declined to attempt the deed he was urged to commit.—Cor. New York Tribune.

Puzzled Customs Officers.

English customs officers are puzzled what to do about goods made in Germany and France with English marks put on them, sent to England and then reshipped to other countries as English goods. If they permit the goods to pass through discredit is cast upon English manufactures, and if they stop them English vessels lose the job of carrying the goods.—New York Sun.

An Anecdote of Horace Greeley.

When I was a cub—back in the thirties—I was living with my mother and stepfather in Brooklyn. One day I was sent over to New York to deliver an imposing stone to the firm of Greeley & Winchester, who were then publishing The New World. I was told not to deliver the stone unless I got my money. When I arrived at Horace Greeley's office he immediately ordered his men to hoist the stone to the third story with a block and tackle, and it was hoisted. I had insisted with Mr. Greeley that I could not leave the stone without the money, but he simply answered me by saying, "My son, the stone is in the third story; how are you going to get it down? You come over Saturday and I will pay you for the stone." I told him if I went back without the money I would get a terrible threshing, and which, by the way, I unquestionably got.

I went back Saturday and Mr. Greeley wanted to put me off again. I told him of the beating which my stepfather had given me. He seemed to doubt it, so I pulled off my jacket and showed him how black and blue my back was. When he saw the marks he said: "My God! what a brute a man must be to beat a child in that manner. Sit down. I'll get the money, although I'll have to borrow it." In five minutes he returned with some apples and ginger cake for me, and then he went out and was gone for an hour, when he appeared with the money. When I receipted the bill he handed me $1, saying: "This will take a little of the pain out of your back, and, if ever you want a friend and I can serve you, come and see me." I did not meet Greeley again for seven years, when I met him in Washington. I was in need of a friend then, and he introduced me to Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, and did all he could to further my interests, which, by the way, was my first successful stepping stone in life.—Judge C. F. Cady in Globe-Democrat.

Bad Health of the Rich.

Bad health afflicts the millionaire as it does the pauper. Many a modern Midas has the dyspepsia, and he cannot eat the dainty things which his French cook brings him. Amos Lawrence, of Boston, did not dare to tempt his stomach by eating with his family, and had to confine himself to oat meal gruel. Jay Gould lately telegraphed to a London doctor for a cure for neuralgia, and the pills which he received in response did not help him a bit. All the millions in the world will not stop the jumping toothache, and Mrs. A. T. Stewart paid $32,000 a year to three physicians during her latter days and died at last, and she was not happy under the process. All of Mayor Hewitt's wealth will not drive away insomnia. Insomnia is the ghost of many a rich man, and I doubt that Hewitt would give many thousand dollars to know that it would never visit him again. He had in Washington during his congressional career a half dozen different houses and could not buy sleep at the highest rental rates.

During part of the time he lived at Wormley's hotel and had the whole top floor reserved for him. He would travel from one bedroom to another night after night seeking a soporific pillow, but his efforts were often in vain, and the crowing of the cocks, the yawling of the cats and the barking of the dogs drove sleep from his eyelids. A baker, who was probably happy when he made $5 a day, lived near Hewitt's Washington house. This baker's name was Kaiser and this Kaiser had a dog. The dog disturbed Hewitt night after night and Hewitt made such a fuss about it that his trouble was published in the papers throughout the country. Kaiser, however, would not sell the dog and the rich man was forced to listen to it.—Frank G. Carpenter in Kansas City Journal.

Curiosities of a Mexican Town.

Close to the city the Guanajuata quarries yield a beautiful stone, which has now a clear pea green and now a bright pink color, and which is very fine for building purposes, with the one drawback—that the slabs obtained, while they may be had of almost any desired area, are but three or four inches in thickness. For columns, however, this is rather an advantage, as may be seen in the portico of the great theater now building, where the grouped pillars have an appearance almost of mosaic from the striated effect of the stone aforesaid. The market place at Guanajuata is laid at all sorts of planes and angles, and it is a most picturesque and interesting district. Especially is it rich in arbolarias, or herb stands, where are sold the simples affected by the holpolloi, not only vegetable in form, but echinoderm shells, deers' hoofs, many mineral remedies, armadillo shells, polecats split open and dried, and many other kindred inviting rostrums. Here, too, are sold various charming sorts of pottery—the lovely iridescent ware, the discovery of whose manufacture in Mexico has created a veritable furor among the affectors of ceramics—the red, double spouted, canteen like water bottles, and the strikingly effective ware of Guadalajara, which, by the way, may here be bought for a trifle, 75 cents the bottle, while in Chihuahua or Mexico it costs from $1 to $3.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Jolly Prisons in Australia.

There is a jail in Queensland where the lady boarders have quite a good time of it. One of the fair creatures "is allowed at all hours into the jailer's house, where she plays the jailer's piano late at night and keeps the warders awake." In another prison, at Townsville, one hard labor gentleman has learned to play chess, and has worried through 700 games in three months, but he speaks very unfavorably of the officials, who actually refused to allow him to go to Adelaide to take part in the chess tournament, although he was willing to pledge his word that he would return some time, or perhaps a little later. Jail life in Queensland, according to the recent commission, appears to be rather a rosy existence—if you get into the proper sort of jail. The commission's stories almost remind one of the state of affairs at Darlinghurst prison forty years ago, when troopers who had to escort good looking women from Sydney to Parramatto took three weeks in traveling fourteen miles.—Modern Society.

One of Lieut. Greely's Dogs.

Wolf, the "nigh" leader of the dog team that drew the sledges in the famous Greely arctic expedition, is now a resident of Oakland, Cal., having spent the summer there for his health. He may be seen at the home of a painter named McNeil, where he is kept at the expense of Gen. Sherman, his owner. After the close of the expedition, Lieut. Greely, into whose hands Wolf fell, presented him to Gen Sherman.—Boston Transcript.

The brain of an elephant is somewhat larger than that of a man, but the brain of an elephant is considerably smaller than that of a woman.

The Dangerous St. Bernard.

Apropos of dogs an old friend that I met the other afternoon drew my attention to a superb St. Bernard that went by with a small young man in tow.

"There," he said, "is the most dangerous breed of dog in existence. It is worse than the bull dog. No one should be allowed to keep a St. Bernard in the city, except under guard, and the freedom with which they are kept in flat houses full of women and children and led about the crowded streets is an outrage on public safety. They are naturally ill tempered and vicious and you can never tell when they will break out. Their mild and dignified appearance renders people unsuspicious of their real natures and their great strength makes them as dangerous as lions. Even with their teeth filed, as is customary in Europe, they do a great deal of damage. With their teeth full grown they could mangle a woman or child to death before help could come to the victim. I have owned several of them myself and have never had one that I could trust with strangers, so I gave up keeping them altogether rather than risk harming any one through them."

I enjoyed a melancholy illustration of this statement within twenty-four hours. The mildest and most benevolent looking St. Bernard possible to find belongs to one of my neighbors. My own little Yorkshire terrier met this benign big brother of his in the hallway of the house and barked at him at a distance of several feet. With a sudden roar of rage the giant leaped at him and fanged him. He was pulled off at once, but, alas! my poor little comrade of seven years of midnight labor lies in the New York Veterinary hospital with a hole in his chest that may be, I fear me, like merry Mercutio's, and the benevolent St. Bernard still travels to and fro, nursing his latent fury in a household of women and little children.—Trumble in New York News.

Amid Unnatural Excitement.

Evidence accumulated, demonstrates beyond cavil or doubt, that unnatural excitement, whether it be fear, anger, jealousy, or anything else, ruins mind and body with a poison, for which there is no absolute antidote. It brings ruin to the body more than any other cause, and ruin to the nerves and brain more than every other cause combined. The point I make, and wish to be remembered, is that unnatural excitement is the human soul's greatest foe. It takes the blood out of the body, the life out of the blood, and the joy out of the life. It withers the young form of symmetry and beauty into the bending, shapeless form of premature age. It plows its furrows and insidiously and deeply works its wrinkles upon the face and brow of life's youth and prime, where naught but smiles should live and reign. It invades the temple of strength and paralyzes her fair garden called the brain. It dries up her streams from the greater to the lesser nerves. It cuts the sinews of her strength and changes the body temple into a pest house of disease, and closes the drama of life's great mistake, as it wraps the unhappy wreck in death's charitable mantle of darkness and silence.

Fight down every phase of unnatural excitement, control yourself in all things. Banish from your nature jealousy and hate, subdue your anger and every form of unnatural excitement, cultivate a sweet disposition, a cheerful nature, and spirit of love and faith. Your life will be one of joy, sickness will not trouble you, sorrow seldom visit your home, your life will be one of peace and joy, and your peace and joy will be the peace and joy of others. Youth will stay with you through your prime, follow you far into the harbor of old age, close in death your lips with a smile, and linger in memory over your grave.—American Spectator.

New Way to Mend Ribs.

A young woman physician who pratices in Englewood tells of a queer case in surgery which she heard of a few weeks ago, or rather a case of most unusual surgical treatment for a common injury. A young man had suffered a fall from the cars, and on examination it was found that two of his ribs had been broken. The doctor who was called to the case—a man doctor, by the way—told the patient's mother to make a big bowl of mush and milk, and to coax the wounded man to eat as much of it as he could possibly hold. This was done, and then the doctor told the wondering mother to bring him one of her old corsets, the largest one she had. The good woman blushingly obeyed, and stood by with bulging eyes and watched the doctor put the corset on his patient and draw the strings comfortably tight. "Keep the boy filled with mush and milk all night, if possible," was the doctor's injunction, as he packed up his traps to go away, "and be sure that the corset strings don't get any looser than they are now. I'll come again in the morning." The next day the ingenious medical man declared that the broken ribs would soon be knitted well together again, and that they were growing as nice and straight as you please. "The mush and milk on the inside and the corset on the outside is what did the business," he said.—Chicago Herald.

Getting Hurt on the Stage.

Audiences do not always give actors credit for the courage and endurance necessary to the performance of some parts, and are apt to count everything on the stage as a trick or deception. Actors are not infrequently lamed by high leaps, bruised by kicks, blows and falls, bitten by trained dogs, burned in fire scenes and injured by pistols, swords and knives. There are incidents, too, that do not expose them to danger but are trying to the nerves, like that in an English melodrama that requires the leading lady to stand close to the muzzle of a gun when it is fired. In the "Arabian Nights" a lively boxing scene is introduced, in which Richard Golden has to allow himself to be severely mauled. After getting a sound thump in the eye he walks to the footlights and says gravely, "Some people think that these things on the stage ain't real, but they are."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Naming His Drink.

Why did I ask that gentleman what he would have when I know that he has drank nothing but whisky and lemon for twenty years? Because it is our policy always to ask the question. Suppose that you did not know that gentleman, and he came in, and without saying a word I would put up whisky and lemon, what would you think? Why, you would say to yourself, "That man is an old stager here. There is no need of asking him what he wants; they know him." So we always make it a point to go through the form of asking the customer to name his drink.—Barkeeper in Globe-Democrat.

Hiram H. Revels, and not Blanche K. Bruce, as is often stated, was the first colored man that ever sat in the United States senate.

FOREARMED IS FOREWARNED.

SMALL-POX is rapidly disseminating itself throughout the State. It has been declared epidemic in San Francisco and has made its appearance in this county. It is also prevailing in a sporadic form in Alameda, Solano, Marin, San Joaquin, Butte, Contra Costa, Nevada, Siskiyou, Lake and Sierra counties. The State Board of Health has become alarmed at the rapid spread of the disease and urges upon the people of every section of the State to vaccinate as the only preventive means that exists to avoid the disease.

Sooner or later the disease may make its appearance in Sonoma and become epidemic if some action is not taken by our City Trustees to prevent its development. Taking time by the forelock, Santa Rosa and almost every other incorporated city and town in county and State has passed ordinances authorizing their Boards of Health to enforce compulsory vaccination whenever in their judgement they may see fit to do so. Sonoma, being constitutionally slow in everything, has too long neglected this matter. If we were isolated from the disease there would be some excuse for the apparent slowness of the City Trustees in this matter. But we are within fifty miles of its common center and where the disease has germanated. The material for infection is abundant and is increasing every day. Small-pox is stalking abroad in all its hideousness. Something must be done, and quickly too, by our City Trustees to put Sonoma on the defensive. Let them call a special meeting and follow the advice of the State Board of Health and pass an ordinance compelling general vaccination. If they wait for small-pox to make its appearance in our midst it may then be too late. By deferring action in this matter our Trustees are assuming a fearful risk. Thirty-five years ago the ravages of small-pox nearly decimated this town and whole families were almost wiped out of existence. Such a hold did it gain that there were barely enough living to take care of the sick and bury the dead. Are we to have a repetition of these harrowing scenes? We say no if timely action is taken by the City Trustees to fortify the town against the monster.

MRS. WYATT of Petaluma attempted to "shuffle off this mortal coil" by the drowning act in that city last Saturday. She was fished out of the creek, however, and her life saved. Her son, on whom she depended upon for support, was about to get married, and fearing poverty she sought to end her woes in Petaluma Creek. Madam, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, the miserable stream isn't fit to drown a polecat in.

THE Daily Mirror of Manchester, N. H., recently mailed 500 circular letters to prominent Republicans in that State concerning Presidential preferences. In the responses Blaine leads, 119 favoring him as a candidate, Sherman being second, with only thirty votes. Lincoln makes the best showing for Vice-President.

CLARA BELLE MCDONALD has been acquitted by a San Francisco jury for attempting the life of her father-in-law. The woman is evidently insane. This at least was the opinion of the jury, hence her acquittal.

FAVORS WOOL PROTECTION.

In a recent interview with the Chronicle's representative in Washington Congressmen Thompson, in discussing the tariff question, among other things said: "So far as wool is concerned, although the President favors making it free, as there is no probability of such a measure being carried, there will be a struggle over it, which will probably end in a compremise by placing carpet wool on the free list. It is believed this would be no serious injury to California interests. Only about 20,000,000 pounds are produced in the United States, and it is not profitable to raise it. It is claimed that we should import all we use, and by making it free of duty cheapen and enable the more general use of carpets in the land. But the platform upon which I was elected pronounced specifically in favor of protection on wool, and as a Democrat I am bound to make good my pledge to the people in that and all other particulars."

ONE of the great trials of the newspaper profession is that its members are compelled to see more of the sham of the world than any other profession. Through every newspaper office, day after day, go all the weaknesses of the world—all the vanities that want to be puffed; all the revenges that want to be reaped; all the mistakes that want to be corrected; all the dull speakers that want to be thought eloquent; all the meanness that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in the editorial columns in order to save the tax in the advertising columns; all those who want to be set right who were never right; all the crack-brained philosophers with stories as long as their hair, and as gloomy as their finger-nails in mourning because bereft of soap—all the bores who come to stay five minutes but talk five hours. Through the editorial and reportorial rooms all the follies and shams of the world are seen, day after day, and the temptation is to believe neither in God, man or woman. It is no surprise to me that in this profession there are some sceptical men; I only wonder that newspaper men believe anything.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage.

W. P. KLEE, State Inspector of Fruit Pests, says the Alta, considers that the present cold spell instead of being a curse to horticulturists is a blessing in disguise. Mr. Klee considers that it is the very thing that was wanted, as it will give the vines and trees a rest by preventing the too early working of the ground. It will cause little or no damage, and cannot help but have a good influence. He further thinks that while the frost will help in the direction aforementioned he does not consider it at all likely to kill the scale bug, and the people putting their trust in the weather to help them in this respect will undoubtedly get left.

COUNTY CULLINGS.

Small-pox has broken out in Cloverdale.

Santa Rosa is having pumpkin pie socials. Yum! yum!

Col. Mark L. McDonald of Santa Rosa has been appointed a member of the State Board of Foresty.

J. C. Holloway of Cloverdale has purchased the D. W. Walker ranch, near Sebastopol, consisting of 161 acres, for $28,000.

A man in Petaluma won $15,000 in the Louisiana lottery last week. But for all that we would advise our readers to let the concern alone.

A fire at Sebastopol last Sunday afternoon destroyed Kauffman's merchandising store and the barber shop adjoining. The property was fully insured.

The construction of the Santa Rosa and Carquinez Railroad still continues to be pushed forward. The entire road bed is now graded within six miles of Santa Rosa.

Something even more uncommon than the fall of snow was the continued period which it remained upon the ground. It ceased to fall about 4 o'clock P. M. Monday, yet Tuesday morning came and found the ground still covered with the beautiful snow. It had frozen and was rendered in a fine condition for sleigh riding, calling out a number people who resolved to enjoy the snow while it lasted. Snow comes so seldom in California that it is considered one of the choicest luxuries.—Santa Rosa Republican.

SMALL-POX has broken out among the workmen on the De Long ranch, Novato. There are twenty-five men employed on the farm.

THE COTTONY CUSHION SCALE.

State Inspector of Fruit Pests Appeal to Town Trustees.

Below will be found a circular letter recently addressed by W. G. Klee, State Inspector of Fruit Pests, to Town Trustees in this State. As the cottony cushion scale exists in large numbers in this city, our Trustees should take some action in the matter to prevent its spread, Inspector Klee says:

"I desire to call your attention to the fact that the fluted or cottony cushion scale (Icerya purchasi) exists in large numbers in the midst of your town, being found on your streets as well as in your gardens. It is impossible for me personally to agitate the suppression of this insect in every one of the localities affected by it, since it is found in gardens and yards of all descriptions, I hereby appeal to you, as the representatives of the municipality, to do all in your power to prevent its further spread, and, if possible, to accomplish its total extermination. It should be borne in mind that the whole community is vitally interested in this matter, for the presence of this scale renders the cultivation of most of our garden plants and ornamental trees almost an impossibility. Let the whole community take hold and every property-holder do his share, and, if united, their efforts are bound to tell.

As a step in the right direction, I advise the removal from the streets of all locusts, acacias and French elms which are found to be the least infected, and the eventual substitution for these of trees less liable, such as the olive and the large-leaved California maple. In gardens, we recommend a severe cutting back of all deciduous bushes affected, the total destruction of the pittosporum, the entire cleaning-out of all annuals, the thorough overhauling of the premises, the burning-up of all leaves and rubbish.

If the infection of the Icerya is simply confined to a few trees in any portion of your jurisdiction, we advise the most thorough destruction of everything infested, and the infested spot should be closely watched for at least six months afterward. The peculiar habit of this insect of crawling into the earth, crevices and cracks, together with its power of subsisting without food for a long time, makes this insect by far the most difficult of extermination, and we ask every lover of plant life to do his share in preventing a spread of this insect; otherwise it will only be a question of time when it will be found all over this State.

A valuable cheap remedy deserving thorough trial has been found in the resin washes first recommended by Prof. Riley: Four pounds of resin; three pounds of sal-soda; water to make 36 pints. Dissolve the sal-soda in a few pints of water; when thoroughly dissolved, add the resin. Heat until dissolved, and add water finally. Use two pints of solution to the gallon of water. Use at a temperature of about 100 Fahrenheit. Also the following: 60 pounds of resin, 60 pounds of tallow, 10 pounds of potash, dissolved in 10 gallons of water; 10 pounds of caustic soda (Greenbank, 98 per cent.) Dissolve the resin and tallow; when dissolved, add caustic water slowly. After mixture is made, add ten gallons of water. Use at the rate of one gallon of mixture to ten gallons of water.

These solutions are cheap, and if rightly and persistently applied, will clean off smaller trees and bushes. But we concede the impossibility of exterminating this insect by spraying on large trees without complete defoliation.

For the treatmeat of orchards we earnestly recommend that every one interested make himself acquainted with the workings of the hydrocyanic gas remedy, as tried by Mr. F. W. Morse of the University of California.

Our wholesale condemnation of the locust and acacia is based on the belief that the Icerya has spread, and is still spreading, to a large extent by means of these two trees.

In conclusion we would still emphasize the fact that the insects, unlike other scale insects, are active travelers, and that they may adhere to your clothing and thus be carried many miles.

BOOKS, THREE CENTS EACH!

☞ The following books are published in neat pamphlet form, printed from good readable type on good paper, and many of them handsomely illustrated. They are without exception the cheapest books ever published in any land or language, and furnish to the masses of the people an opportunity to secure the best literature of the day at the most trifling expense. In any other series these great works would cost many times the price at which they are here offered. Each one is complete in itself:

Wonders of the World, Natural and Other. Contains descriptions and illustrations of the most wonderful works of nature and of man. Very interesting and instructive.
Wonders of the Sea. A description of the many wonderful and beautiful things found at the bottom of the ocean, with profuse illustrations.
"A Pleasure Exertion," and Other Sketches. By "Josiah Allen's Wife." A collection of irresistibly funny sketches by the most popular humorous writer of the day.
The Aunt Keziah Papers, by Clara Augusta, author of "The Rugg Documents." A most ridiculously funny book—in every way equal to "Widow Bedott."
Christmas Stories, by Charles Dickens. Contains a number of the most charming Christmas stories ever written by the greatest writer who ever lived. Each one is complete.
Round the Evening Lamp. A book of stories, pictures, puzzles and games, for the little folks at home.
Popular Recitations and Dialogues, humorous, dramatic and pathetic, including all the latest, best and most popular.
The Self-made Men of Modern Times. Contains portraits and biographies of famous self-made Americans, from the time of Franklin to the present.
Familiar Quotations. Containing the origin and authorship of many phrases frequently met in reading and conversation. A valuable work of reference.
Low Life in New York. A series of vivid pen pictures showing the dark side of life in the great city. Illustrated.
The Road to Wealth. Not an advertising circular, but a thoroughly practical work, pointing out a way by which all may make money, easily, rapidly and honestly.
One Hundred Popular Songs, sentimental, pathetic and comic, including most of the favorites, new and old.

The Arctic weather which has prevailed in this valley the past few weeks moderated last Wednesday, much to the relief of shivering humanity. It is reported that the cold snap has somewhat injured the young orange and lemon trees in the valley, but there is an old saying "it is an ill wind that blows nobody good," and the damage in this direction has been more than compensated by the destruction of insect pests.

The following officers of Clay Literary Society were elected last Monday evening to serve for the ensuing term: Mrs. H. H. Granice, President; Mrs. M. McHarvey, Vice President; Miss Annie Raschen, Recording Secretary; H. H. Granice, Financial Secretary; Miss H. Ehrlich, Treasurer; Miss Etta Raschen, Librarian; Geo. Porter, Assistant Librarian; Chas. Douglas, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Chas. Gundlach, the New York representative of Gundlach & Co., dealers in California wines and brandies, who has been spending the holidays at his old home, the Rhine Farm, near this place, returns East next week. Mr. Gundlach has an office at 52 Warren street, New York, and deals exclusively in California wines and brandies. He reports an increased demand for our wines in the East and says they are becoming more popular every day.

Ed. Steiger lost four horses and a yearling colt last week. One of the animals was valued at $400. A veterinary surgeon from San Francisco, who was summoned to attend the animals, gave it as his opinion that they died from eating barley straw. A small quantity of the straw after being soaked in glycerine a short time was put under a powerful microscope which revealed the presence of numerous minute insects, and these according to the surgeon caused the death of the animals.

THE EXHIBIT COMMITTEE.

They Discuss Cannery and Knock Out the Boom Publication Man.

A meeting of the Sonoma Valley Exhibit Committee was held at Agua Caliente last Saturday afternoon, ten of the twenty members of the committee being present. The meeting was called to discuss the best means of expending the balance of the money remaining in the hands of the committee, some $500. A number of the members favored the proposition to donate the $500 toward incouraging the establishment of a cannery in this valley. Others were opposed to the cannery idea and argued in favor of applying the money toward advertising the valley abroad. The discussion was a friendly one and resulted in the whole matter being laid over to be taken up at some future time. The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the chair. The ubiquitous boom advertising individual turned up on this occasion as usual and addressed the committee. With tears in his eyes he told them how his publication would bring untold wealth and population into this valley; how we would have two or three canneries and the value of real estate increased 30 per cent., and all this for the mere bagatelle of $500. The Committee listened to the dreary and oft-repeated tale, and when the agony was over, and they had collected their senses the members decided that the time had not yet arrived to invest in any more literature of that nature and voted the proposition down.

Mortality Among Our Old People.

The past Winter has been remarkable for the number of deaths among our old people. Since October the following have died:

Mrs. H. Sutherland, aged 87 years and 30 days. Died, November 29th.

J. U. Waters, aged 64 years. Died, December 15th.

P. D. F. Ewell, aged 63 years, 9 months. Died, December 22d.

Mark Wooster, aged 86 years. Died, January 3d.

Mrs. Caroline Drahms, aged 76 years. Died, January 16th.

Judge Lewis Lewton, aged 70 years. Died, January 16th.

These people, with the exception of Judge Lewton, had resided in Sonoma Valley for from twenty to thirty-five years.

Trial Jurors.

The following trial jurors from Sonoma Township have been drawn to serve in the Superior Court of this county for the year 1883: Douglas Church, George W. Clark, G. C. P. Sears, Charles Clawson, Granville S. Harris, Valentine Hepa, John O'Brien, R. B. Lyon, Alfred Brown, William C. Goodman, James McGinty, G. W. McIntyre, R. D. Moore, T. D. Morris, John T. Peters, James A. Porter, George Engler, George W. Estes, Edward Gillan, Ernest Gilbert, John M. Hendley, J. H. Drummond, J. N. Dowdall, J. F. E. Clewe, F. M. Lay, Edward Steiger, John J. Thelan, John Wadsworth, Julius Wegner, Robert A. Poppe, William Murray, Martin T. Morton.

Accident.

On Wednesday afternoon last a team attached to the carriage of Mr. Robt. Clark, which had been left standing a short distance from the cemetery enclosure, while the family were listening to the funeral sermon over the grave of Judge Lewton, became frightened and ran away. The 4-year old son of Mr. Clark, who had been left in the carriage, was thrown from his seat and received an ugly cut on the forehead. The carriage was badly wrecked.

The Cold Spell in Los Angeles.

A gentleman just returned from Los Angeles reports the recent cold spell as being a great deal more severe down that way than in this county. He says ice formed to the thickness of three inches in Los Angeles and that the freeze has played sad havoc with its orange and lemon groves. He predicts a grand smash up in real estate values in that city, which he describes as a most detestable mud hole.

The New Postmistress at Glen Ellen.

Mrs. Mary E. Overton, the newly-appointed Postmistress at Glen Ellen, has received her commission and will shortly enter upon the discharge of her duties. Mrs. Overton received the endorsement for the position of the leading men of both parties in Washington, her appointment being urged by United States Senator Vest of Missouri and Senator Stewart of Nevada, who are old-time acquaintances of the lady.

P FLUSH THE SEWERS—They are talking about flushing the sewers in San Francisco all the time, and still it is only talk. In the meantime, many are carried off by the malarial diseases who would be alive to-day if the cleanliness of that city were properly attended to. Frese's Hamburg Tea is an excellent medicine at all times, as it fortifies the human body against the bad effects of the gaseous poisons which, though invisible, are floating in the air everwhere, potent to destroy.

Go to the Occidental Hotel if you want good accommodations. †

THE NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Their Entertainment Next Friday Evening Promises to be a Great Treat.

The Native Daughters of Sonoma are taking great interest in their entertainment which takes place next Friday evening. A large number of tickets have been sold and people from all over the valley will be in attendance. The amateur minstrel troupe, composed of twelve of our most talented gentlemen, will be one of the attractions. This, together with a miscellaneous programme, to conclude with a grand tabaleau, will make one of the most pleasing entertainments ever presented to a Sonoma audience. At the conclusion of the entertainment dancing will be inauguarated, Gerardi's string band furnishing the music.

Installation.

The following officers of Bear Flag Lodge, No. 97, Knights of Pythias, were installed Thursday, January 12th, by E. J. Mullin, D. D. G. C., assisted by visiting brothers of Petaluma Lodge No. 100: Henry Raschen, P. C.; James Martin, C. C.; F. Ehrlich, V. C.; A. O. Canfield, Prelate; Wm. Stone, K. of R. S. and M. of F.; H. C. Manuel, M. of E.; P. J. Hein, Master at Arms. The installation ceremonies were made public to the brothers' wives and daughters and lady friends, at the close of which Henry Raschen, P. C., in a few well chosen remarks presented E. J. Mullin, D. D., on behalf of the Lodge, an elegant P. C. jewel as a token of esteem. Mr. Mullin accepted the gift in appropriate terms, thanking the brothers and stating that it was a genuine surprise to him. The company then adjourned to the banqueting hall, where a most elegant repast awaited them, to which ample justice was done.

Boom Prices.

In 1879 in settling an estate in the Superior Court of this county, a petition was filed, praying for the sale of a certain lot in San Diego, setting forth the grounds that the lot could be sold for $800 but was daily diminishing in value, consequently it would be to the best interests of the estate to sell it immediately. There being some business yet unsettled regarding the estate the attorney from San Diego, representing the heirs, is in this city and states that the same lot has been sold for $62,000. The city has grown around it and the effect of the boom proved that the heirs anticipations were ill founded. Santa Rosa Republican.

The Rain.

On Wednesday the back-bone of the cold snap was broken and at an early hour in the evening rain commenced to fall and has continued without cessation up to the hour of going to press, 4 P. M. Friday. After the long continued cold spell, the like of which was never known in this valley since the advent of the white man, the gentle showers and the mildness of the temperature accompanying them were most welcome visitors.

I. O. O. F. Installation.

The following officers of Sonoma Lodge, No. 28, I. O. O. F., were installed last Saturday evening by A. J. Van Every, P. G.: M. F. Turley, N. G.; W. F. Breit, V. G.; J. H. Albertson, Rec. Sec.; J. H. Miller, Per. Sec.; J. G. Marcy, Treas.; J. M. Cheney, R. S. to N. G.; J. E. Poppe, L. S. to N. G.; A. J. Van Every, R. S. to V. G.; J. Rives, I. G.; T. D. Mann, Warden.

Must be Vaccinated.

The Board of Health of Santa Rosa has ordered that the city school teachers of all the schools shall require a certificate, signed by some physician, from every pupil that he or she has been vaccinated within the past four years. Those who have not shall be dismissed from the school and debarred attendance—Santa Rosa Democrat.

THE LATE LEWIS LEWTON.

A Brief Sketch of His Life—A Long and Useful Career.

Judge Lewis Lewton, one of the wealthiest and most prominent men in this section of the State, died at the residence of his son-in-law, E. T. Sheppard, at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of last Monday.

Lewis Lewton was born in Fayette county, Pa., December 25, 1817. While yet a boy his parents removed to Carrolton, Carroll county, Ohio, where the subject of this sketch received the rudiments of an English education in the common schools. In 1837 he began studying law and was admitted to the Bar in 1840. He continued the practice of law almost without interruption until the breaking out of the Rebellion. Some of the most distinguished lawyers and politicians in Ohio were among his associates at the Bar, all of whom greatly esteemed him both as a man and a jurist. Among these were the Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, afterwards Lincoln's great War Secretary, Hon. John A. Bingham, who was his law partner for nearly a quarter of a century, David K. Carter, afterwards U. S. District Judge, Benjamin F. Wade, General McCook and many others equally distinguished.

During the Civil War, Mr. Lewton took his regiment, the 126th Ohio, National Guard, to the front, serving in the campaign in the Shenandoah Valley against Early, and afterwards in the intrenchments before Washington. He was exceedingly patriotic and very popular with the boys in blue.

Upon the breaking out of the California gold fever in Ohio, Mr. Lewton organized a company of gold-seekers, whom he brought across the plains in 1849. He remained in the State two years when he returned to Cadiz, Ohio, where he made his home until 1873, when he returned to California and located in Napa, where he has resided for the most part since. For a part of the years 1885 and 1886 he lived at the Madrone Vineyards near Glen Ellen. By his death the State has lost a patriotic and brave man and a good citizen.

Deceased leaves a widow and two children, one a daughter, the wife of Eli T. Sheppard of this valley, and the other a son, residing in Florida.

His funeral took place last Wednesday afternoon in this place and was largely attended.

Small Pox.

EDITOR INDEX - TRIBUNE—Sir: Small-pox having been declared epidemic in San Francisco, many cities and towns over the State have taken measures to prevent the development of the disease and their Boards of Health have ordered that "all persons be vaccinated, requiring for children as a condition to admission to the public schools a physicians certificate of vaccination within five or four years." Santa Rosa, Petaluma, Healdsburg, Cloverdale, Napa, have followed the same course, but unfortunately our quiet city stands in its own and old fashioned way of progressing backward as the crab.

Our diligent and zealous City Fathers have not taken any steps towards preventing the spread of this terrible disease in our charming valley. Really it is very strange that having in our City Council a doctor and a druggist as members of the Board they have forgotten the old maxim "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." As the chairman of the Board is confined at home, I would urge upon Trustee McHarvey to call a special meeting of the Council for the purpose of selecting a physician to vaccinate, free of charge, all persons unable to pay, charging those able 25 cents, as Santa Rosa has ordered, and notify the physicians in the city that they must report to the Health Officer in writing, every patient they shall have laboring under small-pox, or any infectious disease. (Sec. 3034 Political Code of Cal.)

Consumption Surely Cured.

To THE EDITOR—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and postoffice address. Respectfully, T. A. SLOCUM, M. C., 181 Pearl st., New York.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life." Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters. This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malarial Diseases and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50c. and $1 at E. Wegner's.

Glen Ellen Gossip.

James McEwen, who owns a fine vineyard farm near this place, was up from San Francisco last Sunday.

Mrs. K. F. Warfield has been suffering considerably with a severe cold, but from latest reports is rapidly improving.

Geo. Sparks was up Sunday from Sonoma. Not knowing his business here and fearing arrest we, of course, avoided him.

Henry and Robert Chauvet will take a course in the Pacific Business College and left for San Francisco last week for that purpose.

Salmon are plentiful in Sonoma creek and the boys have great sport in looking at their queer antics in the water, but of course do not catch any.

W. G. Corbaley of the Sonoma Valley Railroad and family have gone to San Rafael to reside. Mr. McDonough has been appointed to the position of Mr. Corbaley.

We learn that John Staley will open a blacksmith shop in Los Guilucos. John has traveled from Portland to San Diego, but has found no place to compare with this valley.

Mr. Nelson, a cooper in the employ of Kohler & Frohling, was married in San Francisco last week. The newly-married couple have taken up their home on the farm, and have the best wishes of all.

The warning we received in the last issue of this paper regarding the pugilistic abilities of Wm. Sobbe has caused a scarcity of news this week. We very naturally avoided Mr. Sobbe fearing a blackeye and a general disfigurement of our noble and handsome appearance.

OLD TIMER.

Petaluma Points.

Courier.

J. F. Burns and George Weirs of this city, killed last Sunday opposite the Haystack on Petaluma creek, a large white swan.

A party of four at the Club House yesterday killed nearly a hundred ducks and several geese. Among the ducks killed were a number of canvasbacks.

V. Schmidt of Petaluma won $15,000 in the Lousiana Lottery. Mr. Schmidt is a quiet, unassuming gentleman with a large family and the money has fallen in a good place.

Last Monday was a lively day upon Petaluma creek. Seven schooners fully loaded with merchandise arrived at the different wharves and departed loaded with hay. It is said that hay has paid the farmers better this year both in quantity and price than for the last five years.

John A. McNear of this city, owning several horses whose feet were injured by standing on the usual floors provided in stalls for them, concluded to try a new experiment. He had his stalls properly graded and then laid the floor with basalt blocks so arranged that the horses could stand or lie down comfortably and at the same time afford proper drainage to carry off the surplus water. The beneficial results were beyond his calculations. His horse's feet improved right along and the advantages otherwise were so good as to recommend it to other owners of horses. He claims that the feet of the horses are better preserved, it is easier for them and the drainage is more perfect than by any known system of building stalls in a horse stable.

Read the Death Roll

Which the bills of mortality of any large city may be fitly designated, and you will find that renal and vesical maladies, that is to say, those that effect the kidneys or bladder, have a remarkable prominence—we had almost said-preponderance. Bright's disease and diabetes in the chronic stage are rarely cured, and gravel, catarrh of the bladder ond enuresis, slay many. Yet at the outset, when the trouble merely amounts to inactivity of the organs involved, the danger may be nullified by that pleasant renal tonic and diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which imparts the requisite amount of tone to the organs, without over-excitingthem, and the use of which is convenient, and involves no elaborate preparation. Dyspepsia, a usual concomitant of renal complaints and debility, which invariably produce, are remedied by it. So also are constipation, malarial, rheumatic and nervous ailments.

LINCOLN'S EARLY LIFE.

COL. JOHN G. NICOLAY GIVES A LETTER WRITER SOME POINTS.

How "Uncle Abe" Bore Himself During the Great Campaign of 1860—His Public Receptions at the White House in War Times.

Young Nicolay at 14 was thrown on his own strength and skill for a living. He served a year in a country store at $4 a month, then secured the position of diabolical adjunct in a printing office. He went first to the broom, then to the roller, then to the case, then to the desk, and beginning as "devil," became editor and proprietor. Afterward, while reading law, he became a clerk in the office of the secretary of state of Illinois, and there, in 1857, among the politicians and story tellers gathered around the roaring log fire, he first made the acquaintance of Abraham Lincoln. There, too, without a suspicion of Lincoln's coming fame, he began that very year to make scrap books containing an authentic record of the growth of events of which the tall, gaunt, popular lawyer was soon to be the central figure. Col. Nicolay took from a shelf and showed me some of these thirty year old scrap books, which he now finds indispensable. "Hay and I made collections for scrap books, also," said he, "all the time that we were in the White House," and he produced one of these marked upon the back "Vol. XXXVIII."

"The first time I saw Mr. Lincoln," said Mr. Nicolay, "was in Pittsfield, Ills., where I was editing a paper in 1856. There was to be a campaign rally there, and Lincoln and Trumbull met on the sidewalk and embraced each other warmly. 'Why, Trumbull, you here?' said Lincoln. 'Why, Lincoln, you here?' responded the senator, for the fact that they were to speak for Fremont that night together was unknown to both. Afterward, around the stove in the office of the secretary of state, where I was a clerk for four years, Lincoln was a familiar presence and always the center of the group."

"How came you to be the president's secretary?" I asked.

"I was at the Chicago convention," said Col. Nicolay, "and when Lincoln was nominated I was ambitious to write his campaign biography. I was greatly disappointed when I failed to get the job and it was given to a young fellow from Ohio, one W. D. Howells, whom I had never before heard of. We have all heard of him since. I was regretting my bad luck a day or two after to Mr. Butler, a close friend of Lincoln's, when he interrupted me with, 'Hush, that's of no consequence, You are to be private secretary.' That's the way it came about."

"How did Mr. Lincoln bear himself during the campaign?"

"He was always a self poised man, quiet and equable in temper, seldom greatly elated or much depressed. He was not worried about the campaign, and had himself thoroughly in hand. People sent him many curious symbols of frontier life—axes, mauls, wedges, rails—and all sorts of people, on all sorts of errands, called on him in the governor's room in the state house, which was assigned to him. Many came from mere curiosity, and they would sit awkwardly around looking at him. He could not talk politics much at such a time, and the bulk of his visitors were shy of speech. They handled the symbols that had been sent in, and spoke to him of their use, and he would sometimes take the end of an ax helve between his fingers and hold the ax out at arm's length to show that he had not lost his strength. In various simple ways he thus managed to kill time. One fellow had the impudence to come wearing a secession cockade on his hat. Lincoln spoke to him pleasantly and shook hands as with the others, and the intruder sat around half an hour, looking foolish and saying nothing, and finally went out. The crowd quietly ignored the intended insult."

"Mr. Lincoln was just as democratic in the White House, I believe," I said.

"Yes," assented Col. Nicolay, "and that went far toward giving him his firm hold on the hearts of the people. It was his custom, while he was president, to hold an informal reception between 12 and 1 o'clock each day, to hear in person the requests and wishes of all sorts of people who chose to come to see him. Rich and poor, white and black, crowded into his business office (now Col. Lamont's), shook hands and told him what they wanted. He generally wrote a card and referred the petitioner to the proper department, but often he attended to it himself. Men who wanted office came; alleged Unionists who wanted pay for losses; cranks who showed him how to put down the rebellion; mothers who had sons in the army; relatives of men who had been ordered shot; tramps who were hard up and wanted money or transportation to enable them to go somewhere. It was like some ancient Druid standing under an oak tree and dealing out justice to the realm."

I asked if Mr. Lincoln comprehended that he was in constant danger of his life.

"Of course," said Col. Nicolay, "It was often discussed between his friends and himself. They would say, 'Now, Lincoln, you must look out and be constantly on your guard. Some crank is liable to come along and kill you.' His answer always was, 'I will be careful. But I cannot discharge my duties and withdraw myself entirely from danger of an assault. I see hundreds of strangers every day, and if anybody has the disposition to kill me he will find opportunity. To be absolutely safe I should lock myself up in a box.' Threatening letters came, and these I always showed to Mr. Lincoln, who generally turned them over to the war department."—Washington Cor. Chicago Herald.

Origin of a Cholera Outbreak.

The cholera microbe, whose native habitat is in Asia, is a fellow of fearful vitality. As we trace the recent outbreak of cholera back to its evident origin, we are compelled to exclaim: "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth!" There is no reasonable doubt but what all the mischief had its origin in a miserable little village in Egypt, near one of the mouths of the River Nile, called "Damietta." An epidemic caused a large number of deaths among their cattle. Instead of burying them in the soil, nature's own regenerating alchemy, they dumped them into fresh water, where, under the festering influence of a tropical sun, they soon started a cholera plantation. From this village the fatal disease spread over Egypt, then into Asia and Europe, and for years past has kept the whole civilized world in dread and anxiety.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Palm trees are being extensively cultivated in some parts of California for ornamental purposes.

Farmers desiring groceries and having the cash to pay for the same, can lay in a supply at Weyl's Cash Grocery as cheap as if purchased in the city. Come and be convinced.

What is this Disease that is Coming Upon Us?

Like a thief at night it steals in upon us unawares. The patients have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is a feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint, all gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. The eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and clammy. After a while a cough sets in, at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish-colored expectoration. The patient feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable and gloomy and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become costive; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow; the urine is scanty and high colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sour taste and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired, with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms.

It has been found that physicians have mistaken the cause of this disease. Some have treated it for a liver complaint others for kidney disease, etc., etc., but none of these kinds of treatment have been attended with success; for it is really constipation and dyspepsia. It is also found that Shaker Extract of Roots, or Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, when properly prepared will remove this disease in all its stages. Care must be taken, however, to secure the genuine article.

IT WILL SELL BETTER THAN COTTON.

Mr. John C. Hemptinstall, of Chulafirmee, Cleburn Co. Ala., writes: "My wife has been so much benefited by Shaker Extract of Roots or Seigel's Syrup that she says she would rather be without part of her food than without the medicine. It has done her more good than the doctors and all other medicines put together. I would ride twenty miles to get it into the hands of any sufferer if he can get it in no other way. I believe it will soon sell in this State better than cotton.

TESTIMONY FROM TEXAS.

Mrs. S.E. Barton, of Varner, Ripley Co., Mo., writes that she had been long afflicted with dyspepsia and disease of the urinary organs and was cured by Shaker Extract of Roots. Rev. J. J. McGuire, merchant, of the same place, who sold Mrs. Barton the medicine, says he has sold it for four years and never knew it to fail.

SHE WAS ALMOST DEAD

I was so low with dyspepsia that there was not a physician to be found who could do anything with me. I had fluttering of the heart and swimming of the head. One day I read your pamphlet called "Life Among the Shakers," which described my disease better than I could myself. I tried the Shaker Extract of Roots and kept on with it until to-day I rejoice in good health. Mrs. M. E. Tinsley, Bevier, Muhlenburg Co., Ky.

Mexican War Veteran.

The wonderful efficacy of Swift's Specific as a remedy and cure for rheumatism and all blood diseases, has never had a more conspicuous illustration than this case affords. The candid, unsolicited and emphatic testimony given by the venerable gentleman must be accepted as convincing and conginative. The writer is a prominent citizen of Mississippi. The gentleman to whom Mr. Martin refers, and to whom he is indebted for the advice to which he owes his final relief from years of suffering, is Mr. King, for many years the popular night clerk of the Lawrence House, at Jackson.

JACKSON, MISS., April 29, 1887.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, Atlanta, Ga.:

Gentlemen—I have been an invalid pensioner for forty years, having contracted pulmonary and other diseases in the Mexican War, but not till the 1st of March, 1875, did I feel any symptoms of rheumatism. On that day I was suddenly stricken with that disease in both hips and ankles. For twenty days I walked on crutches. Then the pain was less violent, but it shifted from joint to joint. For weeks I would be totally disabled, either on one side of my body or the other. The pain never left me a moment for eleven years and seven months—that is from March 1, 1875, when I was first attacked, to October 1, 1886, when I was cured. During these eleven years of intense suffering I tried innumerable prescriptions from various physicians, and tried everything suggested by friends, but if I ever received the least benefit from any medicine taken internally or externally, I am not aware of it. Finally, about the first of September, I made arrangements to go to the Hot Springs of Arkansas, having despaired of every other remedy, when I accidentally met an old acquaintance, Mr. King, now of the Lawrence House of this city. He had once been a great sufferer from rheumatism, and, as I supposed, had been cured by a visit to Hot Springs. But when I met him he told me that his visit to the Hot Springs was in vain—he found no relief. On his return from Hot Springs he heard, for the first time, of the S. S. S. as a remedy for rheumatism. He tried it and six bottles made a complete cure. Several years have passed since, but he has had no return of the disease.

I immediately returned to try it. In September I took four bottles, and by the first of October I was well—as far as the rheumatism was concerned. All pain had disappeared, and I HAVE NOT FELT A TWINGE OF IT SINCE.

I have no interest in making this statement other than the hope that it may direct some other sufferer to a sure source of relief, and if it has this result I am well rewarded for my trouble. I am very respectfully and truly your friend.

J. M. H. MARTIN.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it for Colds, Coughs, and all Throat and Lung diseases, ever used in my family.—Robert Vanderpool, Meadville, Pa.

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is considered, here, the one great remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and is more in demand than any other medicine of its class.—J. F. Roberts, Magnolia, Ark. ††
